Pinnacle Actuarial and Watson Wyatt Team on Predictive Analytics Software in North America

BLOOMINGTON, ILL. and WASHINGTON, D.C., October 7, 2008 - Pinnacle Actuarial Resources, a leading national property-casualty actuarial firm, and Watson Wyatt, a leading global consulting firm, today announced their intention to partner to provide technical, training and sales support in North America for Pretium, Watson Wyatt's predictive analytics software. In addition, Pinnacle will provide consulting services in the area of property and casualty insurance.

Used in 40 countries, Pretium supports predictive modeling applications such as improving pricing segmentation, pricing optimization, and modeling customer retention and conversion in an intuitive, flexible and easy-to-use format. These and other Pretium applications assist in improving organizations' financial results.

"Watson Wyatt is delighted that it will be working with Pinnacle to support its Pretium user network in the United States and Canada," said James Tanser, Watson Wyatt's global Pretium team leader. "Pinnacle's reputation and expertise bring a breadth of knowledge in predictive modeling consultancy that will offer our customers unrivaled service."

"Pretium is a visually appealing, fast and user-friendly approach to Generalized Linear Model development," said Roosevelt Mosley, principal and consulting actuary at Pinnacle. "When combined with Pinnacle's extensive predictive modeling experience, Pretium will provide customers with a tool that facilitates quick, thorough analyses of pricing, customer demand and price optimization," he added.
